TRUE PEACE IS THE FRUIT OF JUSTICE

Beloved Sisters and Brothers in Christ,

Pope John Paul II has written: “The goal of peace, so desired by everyone, will certainly be achieved through the putting into effect of social and international justice, but also through the practice of virtues which favour togetherness, and which teach us to live in unity.”

The Church sees the growth of interdependence across the world, though not without problems due to sin, a force that can contribute to peace. We are to love one another, forgive one another, and live humbly in imitation of Jesus . To achieve this peace, like our heavenly Father, who “makes the sun to rise on the evil and the good and sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous” (Mt 5:45), we are to love our enemies, bless them, pray for them, not retaliate, and share our possessions with those who would take things from us (Lk 6:27-35).

Furthermore, we must be prepared to establish just relations with them, for true peace is the fruit of justice, and “because justice is always fragile and imperfect, it must include and, as it were be completed by the forgiveness which heals and rebuilds troubled human relations from their foundations.”

Catholic theology of peace takes a positive stance. It focuses on resolving the causes of conflict and building the conditions for lasting peace. To achieve this peace: (1) promotion and protection of human rights (2) advancing integral human development (3) supporting international law and international organizations and (4) building solidarity between peoples and nations.

Contd.....

This vision of peace is articulated in the whole body of contemporary Catholic social teaching beginning with Pope John XXIII's Pacem in Terris ("Peace on Earth").

Catholic social teaching is more than charity. Charity is like committing those "random acts of kindness" – its those isolated acts of mercy that attend to certain specific needs, things like giving a warm blanket to a homeless person on the street; or serving a meal to a person who's hungry. Justice is more of a systemic thing. It's about reforming the societal context and conditions in order to more fairly correct things when opportunities are not accessible for certain kinds of people. Metaphorically, charity is like giving Band-aids to people after they've had a trauma, Justice is seeking to prevent those traumas from happening in the first place.

This commitment to social justice is at the heart of who we are and what we believe as the foundation of true peace. Peace is not merely the absence of war. Nor can it be reduced solely to the maintenance of a balance of power between enemies. Nor is it brought about by dictatorship. Instead, it is rightly and appropriately called "an enterprise of justice" (Is. 32:7). Peace results from that harmony built into human society by its divine founder and actualized by men as they thirst after ever greater justice. Peace is the presence of justice

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP CORNER

YF Action Session by Fr: Angga S.J.

Date: 18 July 2020

Topic: Being Responsible – Learning from Prophet Daniel

In this YF session, Fr. Angga spoke on “Being responsible” and Prophet Daniel was used as an example. He was known as a very faithful man toward God, even through the toughest hardships and various temptations. Everything he did was always dedicated to God, and whenever he needed help, he would seek God first.

Fr. Angga mentioned how there are very many earthly temptations that often put our faith to the test. A lot of them are especially difficult to refrain from. Of course, if they were easy to overcome, they wouldn't be considered as temptations. Just as Daniel prayed to God whenever he needed help, we too should always pray, because by praying, we will get the answers we need.

Besides being very faithful, Daniel was also talented and well educated. Relating it to our situation, many of the millennial generation today take education for granted. Fr. Angga therefore advised that we should start being more grateful towards the opportunities we are given. Being grateful makes life easier and lighter, and it affects the way we make decisions in life. By being grateful for what we have we will become responsible.

Lastly, Daniel was also known for having a good heart. He always saw the good side of people and believed that even the most troubled ones can have better days. We should learn from this; to try to accept everyone as who they are. We should also allow ourselves to approach God the way we are as this is a path to healing our soul.

In conclusion, just as being grateful leads us to be responsible, all these other characters also connect to being responsible. Escaping responsibility will only bring more regrets and uncertainties in the future. It may also waver our faith towards God. We should always do our best in life and confide in God whenever we are going through tough situations, as He will always be there for us.

CCD ONLINE CLASSES

During this Pandemic, where physical CCD classes are not being held, to enable our children to continue their faith formation journey, STPCICP has initiated online to CCD classes for grade 1 to grade 6 including FHC & Confirmation with God's Park.

God's Park is a catechetically gamified program that is solidly Catholic and speaks the language of the kids. It brings fun ways of learning and opens the door to this refreshingly new world of faith formation.

With our online CCD classes, we aim to assist our children to learn anytime anywhere and to move ahead with the digital age in the field of faith formation.

Our volunteer teachers and coordinators have been undergoing training over the summer to understand God's Park and new ways of teaching kids.

Registration for CCD classes has started (1-15 Aug 2020) :

Classes available: Grades I to VI (Including First Holy Communion FHC) and Confirmation

“TO WHOM SHALL WE GO???” CONNECTED

The life of Christian discipleship is challenging, and the present culture and general apathy toward God has left many young people asking the big question: “To Whom shall we go?” Looking for answers to this question, everyone is tempted to look at social media, television, friends, etc.,

A German saying goes, “To believe everything is too much; to believe nothing is not enough”.

So, how do you decide what is right or wrong????
